Dear Sir:

Your letter of May 18th addressed to the Metropolitan Museum of Art has, by them, been referred to us for response. There are many counterfeits of the gold medallion of which you sent a rubbing and, of course, it would be impossible for us to consider the coin without seeing it. Will you be so good as to let us know at what price you hold the piece and on receipt of your reply we shall be glad to advise you whether or not your price will permit us to be interested.

Very truly yours,

Dear Sir

I am much obliged by yours of the 1st June. The medallion in question is a piece very well conserved therefor the authenticity is out of doubt. I can guaranty to you this two points. Coming to the price I like it for you for thirty thousand francs (30,000)

Respectfully yours
